

The Postdocs of Cambridge (PdOC) Society Committee Roles and Descriptions

Introduction

PdOC society committee members have the ultimate responsibility for directing the activity of the PdOC society, ensuring it is well run and delivering the outcomes for which it has been set up.

The elected PdOC Society Management Committee should provide leadership to the PdOC society by:

- Setting the strategic direction to guide and direct the activities of the organisation;
- Ensuring the effective management of the organisation and its activities; and
- Monitoring the activities of the organisation to ensure they are in keeping with the founding principles, objects, and values.

Note:

PdOC management committee meetings are usually held in the evening at the Mill Lane Postdoc Centre, with food provided.

President

The President plays a key role in the PdOC society and in the PdOC society Management Committee. The President acts as a figure head for the society and also ensures that the Committee functions properly, that there is full participation during meetings, that all relevant matters are discussed, and that effective decisions are made and carried out. The President of PdOC must be a current postdoc of the University of Cambridge or in one of its University Partner Institutions.

Duties and responsibilities

The responsibilities of a Chairperson can be summarised under three areas:

1. To represent the PdOC society.

The President may from time to time be called upon to represent the PdOC society and sometimes be its spokesperson at, for example, meetings with senior University and college officials and participate in University Committees where required.

2. To ensure the PdOC Management Committee functions properly.

The President fulfills the role of Chair presiding at PdOC management committee meetings. He/she is responsible for making sure that each meeting is planned effectively, conducted according to the constitution and that matters are dealt with in an orderly, efficient manner. The President must make the most of all his/her committee members and 'lead the team'. This also involves responsibility for identifying and managing the agreed process for renewal of the Committee through recruitment of new members.

3. To ensure the organisation is managed effectively.

The Chairperson must co-ordinate the Committee to ensure that appropriate policies and procedures are in place for the effective management of the organisation.

Vice- President

Duties and responsibilities

1. To represent the PdOC society.

The Chairperson must co-ordinate the Committee to ensure that appropriate policies and procedures are in place for the effective management of the organisation.

The Vice-President plays a key role in supporting the PdOC President and sharing the President's roles where appropriate. The Vice-President will chair the PdOC Society Management Committee in the absence of the Chair. The Vice-President of PdOC must be a current postdoc of the University of Cambridge or in one of its University Partner Institutions.

The Vice-President may along with, or instead of, the President, from time to time be called upon to represent the PdOC society and sometimes be its spokesperson at, for example, meetings with senior University and college officials and participate in University Committees such as the Postdoctoral Matters Committee (PMC).

2. To support and substitute the PdOC President in carrying out his/her duties as outlined above.

Treasurer

The Treasurer has a watchdog role over all aspects of financial management, working closely with other members of the Management Committee to safeguard the organisation's finances. The treasurer is responsible for ensuring that effective financial systems and procedures have been established, are being consistently followed, and are in line with best practice and University requirements for a University society.
